

HELICOPTER TOURS IN PETERSBURG, ALASKA (907) 772-4780

STIKINE ICEFIELDS TRIP

$350 PER PERSON, 2 PERSON MINIMUM/ 3 PASSENGER CAPACITY (4 if one is a child)

Explore by air and you will understand why renowned explorer John Muir, in 1879, described the LeConte Glacier as one of the "most imposing and first class glacier" he had ever seen. Marvel at the beauty and grandeur of this southernmost active tidewater glacier in North America. From towering icebergs to deep, jagged crevasses, this journey is breathtaking.

Crossing the massive Stikine Icefields, the tour continues its splendor by landing on the Patterson Glacier. You will have an opportunity to examine this ancient river of ice up close and personal with your pilot as your guide.

Duration: 1 hour and 20 minutes, includes flight time and one glacier landing. Please allow additional time for transportation and a helicopter safety briefing.

PATTERSON GLACIER TRIP

Embark on a magnificent journey to view the spectacular glacial landscape of the Stikine Icefield. These features are so remote, the experience will leave vivid memories and impressions for a lifetime.

You'll be enveloped in a sea of peaks as you begin your journey above the waterways and remote forests of Southeast Alaska. During your descent, you'll discover deep crevasses and towering ice spires located on one of Petersburg's most spectacular valley glaciers, the Patterson Glacier. Your pilot will be your guide as you experience this unique and fascinating landscape. The Patterson Glacier helicopter Tour is not only an incredible adventure, it is truly a dream come true.

Duration: Approximately one hour, includes flight time and a glacier landing. Please allow additional time for transportation and a helicopter safety briefing.

Note: These tours are conducted under the helicopter Tour Operators Program of Safety (TOPS). These are the best management practices for making your safety the top priority. (Flight routes and landing sites may vary due to weather and glacier conditions.) We comply with the flightseeing/wildlife viewing practices adopted by the Alaska Visitor's Association. These guidelines were established to be sensitive to, and insure the continued viability of area wildlife species. Due to weight and balance limitations, and passenger safety and comfort, we may charge an additional rate to reserve extra space onboard the helicopter for passengers that are above a certain weight. Guests should wear warm and comfortable clothing. Sunglasses are recommended. Photo opportunities abound...Don't forget your camera!
